Open Call for Assistant Technician!

The Catalan Institute of Classical Archaeology opens a call for an Assistant Technician position, linked to the MIRMED research group.

Given the number of activities linked to the lines of research of the MIRMED research group, it is necessary to strengthen the scientific-technical tasks that allow the adequate execution of the planned research programs and projects, which will be increased with the four-year research projects in archeology and paleontology for the period 2022-2025.

For this purpose, and according to the current regulations, the ICAC director has approved (in this Resolution) the call for an indefinite job position linked to the MIRMED research group (call code 017.128).
